STRONG GERMAN POSITION CAPTURED

REPUBLICANS WIN ELECTION IN WISCONSIN

Lenroot, Republican Candidate For U. S. Senator to Succeed Husting, Has Big Lead Over His Democrat and Socialist Opponents

(By Associated Press)
Milwaukee, April 3.—With 15 counties missing, and many others incomplete, I. L. Lenroot, Republican, had a lead early today of 10,574 over Joseph P. Davies, Democrat. In yesterday's special election for United States senator to succeed the late Paul Husting, Victor L. Berger, Socialist, was 27,769 behind Davies according to the latest reports.

During the campaign every leader insisted that the loyalty of the state was being judged by the whole country. The Socialist platform which opposed the President's policy of peace with victory, offered refuge for the balance of the disloyal elements. Patriots accepted this vote as a test, and on that basis the state has apparently voted loyal by 321.

Berger led in several counties, including Milwaukee county. Daniel Hoan, Socialist, was re-elected mayor of Milwaukee.

Washington, April 3.—Major Gen. Pershing's headquarters shall issue all news relating to the troops in France.

The war department doesn't believe the order is intended to preclude issuing these lists in Washington and expects to resume them as soon as Secretary Baker confirms this understanding of the order.

Parker, Fred Thayer and Frank Clancy, was obliged to close one of the small mills yesterday because of lack of help. The draft and men going to work in the Navy Yards caused the scarcity of men. The company will run the other mills as usual.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Chicagoan authority to use a drug called Freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply melts the corn without inflammation or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of Freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Concord, April 3.—Dr. Arthur Shaw, head of the Craig colony for epileptics at Sonoma, N. Y., the largest in the world, and now attached to the Surgeon General's Department of the United States Army for service in his specialty, is visiting the Shaker colony at East Canterbury.

The stress of war and even the training for war has been found to produce a great increase in cases of epilepsy. To arrange for the care and cure of these cases is Dr. Shaw's special mission.

The Shaker colony occupies the site of a Shaker community and this has led Dr. Shaw, in looking for sites for similar institutions, to visit other properties owned by the Shakers. For that purpose he is now at East Canterbury for a few days, during which he will inspect, also, the Shaker property at Enfield.

As to which, if any, of the Shaker villages would be acquired by the Government Dr. Shaw could not say, but he expects that some action will be taken in the matter within a few months.

At the East Canterbury community Dr. Shaw found many ways and records of much value in connection with his mission.

SHIP FROM PORTLAND IS TORPEDOED

The British steamship Cardale Castle, which left Portland (Me.) for England, was torpedoed and sunk. It became known today.

The information had been withheld, and it was only when Boston exporters presented their claims for insurance to Boston underwriters for adjustment that the news leaked out.

The crew numbered about 50, and it is believed all hands were saved.

The vessel carried supplies for the British government, save for about 2 per cent of her carrying capacity, which was opened to exporters.

She was one of the newest British ships, having been built in 1913. She was owned by the Union Castle Line and was under charter to the Cunard company. She was 400 feet long, gross tonnage 1325, net tonnage of 700.

LOSE CURIOSITY CONCERNING CZAR

Tobolsk, Siberia, April 2.—The population of Tobolsk has lost all curiosity concerning the former Russian Imperial family and pays no attention to them. Only the four gentlemen posted around the house wherein live the former emperor and his family show that it differs in any way from the other houses in the town.

Tobolsk, knowing the truth, that the emperor still lived in the house appointed for him, paid no attention to the rumors which swept Russia a few weeks ago that he had escaped.

The Imperial guard, consisting of chosen men from the Tsarskoye-Selo regiments, have declared they will not deliver Nicholas to anyone. They were much disturbed when the Bolshevik government ordered sailors and members of the Red Guard to Tobolsk.

SCHOOL SAVING SCHEME VERY SUCCESSFUL

The school saving bank scheme, which has been in operation in Ave of the largest school buildings here, has been very much of a success. The saving by the means of an automatic teller, which in return for coins of the denomination up to a quarter returns stamps of a similar denomination, that are accepted at any of the local savings banks, has not only attracted the attention of the children but has held it.

In four weeks time some over a thousand dollars has been taken in, and a great many accounts have been opened at the savings banks, which may mean in the future the start in business of many of the scholars. It encourages the children to save their pennies rather than spend them for candy and useless things.

(By Associated Press)

With the passing of the thirteenth day of the great battle in the Somme sector there came increasing evidence that the attempts of the Germans to cross the allied lines had almost spent itself and that the Germans were apparently aware that the line is unbreakable.

Tuesday showed a marked decrease in the fighting. What little action there was in the Somme sector was carried on with the British and French taking the initiative.

With the big reserve army drawing plans to the scene of the terrific struggle and also with the knowledge that General Pershing has offered the American forces it is believed by military authorities that the tide has been turned and that the Germans who have forced the battle are now at a standstill.

In Tuesday's reports from the war offices both the French and the British admit several losses. The German losses admit continue to augment. German prisoners captured tell of cases where over seventy percent of the attacking detachment have been killed in the recent battle and one prisoner says that while his company was attacking in mass formation that only forty men of the entire company returned to the German lines alive.

The German reserve forces have been called for behind the lines in great numbers, held in readiness so that when other German forces were blighted they might be rushed to the front. There has been an official report that the Germans have thus far called on this branch of men.

It is now positively known among all the British and French commanders that there is a staunch army of 100,000 Americans in readiness, trained and equipped and ready to lend a hand in the great struggle.

Along the front south of Arras that is held by the British there was no important changes Tuesday. While action there was of only minor nature, artillery duels were frequent but the French and British still continue to hold the line.

Big guns were in action at short intervals near Montdidier and Noyon where the battle line bends to the east ward and which is considered one of the strongest German footholds.

The Germans bombarded British positions in Belgium and near Passchendaele and Goeburg Ridge, north-east of Ypres. There was no indication of an infantry attack however.

The Germans again Tuesday endeavored to bombard Paris. Two squadrons of airplanes attempted to reach the city but were repulsed with a curtain of fire from the anti-air guns. There was no casualties reported from the attempted air raid.

Bad weather conditions are hindering operations along the Italian front. Patrol activities are reported from several mountain positions and artillery duels from the region about Lake Garda and to the Adriatic.

Several positions held by the Italians in the mountains were attacked by Austro-German forces but the attacks were repulsed by the Italians without heavy losses to either side.

The British in Palestine have carried out their objective and have reached the Hejaz railroad and are now advancing in the direction of Es-Salt. Several prisoners, guns and machine guns have been reported taken by the British.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments. "Danderine" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

An Important Forward Movement.

One of the best pieces of news that has come from Washington of late is the announcement that through a series of conferences lasting for more than a month an agreement has been reached for governing the relations of capital and labor employed in war work for the duration of the war. This means that if the agreement is lived up to strikes will be obviated and war work will go forward without interruption.

While the terms of the agreement, it was decided, should not be made public until approved by Secretary of Labor Wilson, enough is known to indicate that common sense and a spirit of fairness prevailed at the conferences and that ends were reached that cannot fail to be of great benefit to the country. It is understood that labor representatives pledged the members of unions engaged in war work not to strike until after government investigation of differences between the workers and their employers, which means that all disputes will be placed in the hands of a mediation board for settlement.

An agreement was also reached on another very important point, this having reference to the open and the closed shop. It was decided that open shops shall remain open and closed shops shall remain as they are, but in case of necessity union men shall be allowed to work in open shops and non-union men will be employed in closed shops.

This sounds like business, and it is business. The strikes and wrangling that have been going on in connection with war work have been nothing short of disgraceful. They have retarded progress at a time when not a stroke should be missed and every stroke should be made to count, and have painfully indicated that selfish interests were not prepared to give way to the spirit of patriotism, which at such a time as this should rise superior to all other considerations.

It is to be hoped that the agreement entered into will not prove disappointing, as it can not if the mutual pledges are lived up to. The result must be a smoother movement of all efforts to supply the government with the implements and necessities of war, which means the hastening of the end of the war.

A country facing such an enemy as Germany cannot afford to be at war with itself. It is necessary that capital and labor and every man and every woman should pull together for the achievement of the common purpose, which is the freeing of the world from an overshadowing military domination that would convert freedom into a byword and a mockery.

It will be highly gratifying to the people of the country that this forward step has been taken by the great army of men engaged in supplying ships and other war materials. From this time on, if the agreement is respected as there is every reason to believe it will be, there will be peace and progress at home and the fighting will be confined to the battle fronts, where it belongs.

The Fuel Administration is now talking about paying a bonus to coal operators for producing clean coal. Why not also pay a bonus to farmers who when they sell potatoes sort them carefully instead of putting in the small, the rotten and the frozen? If the people are to be made to pay high prices for coal they should get coal when they buy it, and this without paying a "bonus."

People have been hoping for a large maple sugar crop to help relieve the sugar shortage. Have the returns thus far received done the business? The situation has been mightily improved in many places in the last few days, and many will find themselves able to get along with granulated and brown while the price of maple remains where it is.

The Food Administration is calling upon people to eat potatoes three times a day because of the great surplus there is on hand. But if the surplus is so great should there not be a little further shading of prices? While not quite so high as they were, potatoes are by no means cheap.

Meatless days have been suspended for thirty days, the reason given being that "thousands of hogs now coming into the market have increased the meat supply beyond the country's shipping and storage capacity." And this just at a time when the country is full of budding "pig clubs!"

Do your shopping early says the Fuel Administration with reference to the purchase of next winter's supply of coal. And this is one piece of advice that will be apt to be heeded.

There is everything to indicate that in placing General Foch in supreme command of the Allied armies choice has been made of one of the right kind of "folks."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Saw Wood.

(From the News and Critic.)
Fuel Administrator Ex-Governor Fitch wants everyone to keep right on sawing wood. The amount cut hardly equals yet that of previous years, he says. It is good advice. Everyone should lay in their supply of fuel for next winter before the winter sets in. Cut wood now and have it dried.

Concord's Claim

(From the Concord Patriot.)
It is claimed for Manchester that she has twice as many men in the service as Concord, or 1218 against 603. Well, what of it, except that both have done well, but Concord proportionately much better than Manchester, as her population is not a third as great as Manchester—a little more than a fourth, in fact if Manchester has all she claims.

The "Bone Dry" Law

(From the Laconia Democrat.)
Under the new "bone dry" liquor law which goes into effect in New Hampshire, May 1, the matter of a liquor agency is to be settled by each city council. They may appoint or elect a liquor agent if desired, to hold office one year, to sell liquors, on prescription, and for sacramental, medicinal or scientific purposes, under the supervision of the state agents. A city liquor agency shall be kept open on week days from 7 to 12, and from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9, and on Sundays from 9 to 10 a. m., 12 to 1, and 5 to 6 p. m. The salary of a liquor agent is to be fixed by the mayor of a city, and he is to sell liquor at actual cost, including the expense of the agency. If a city council decides not to establish a liquor agency, a prescription permit may be issued to any registered druggist, who will be governed by the same rules as a liquor agent.

Hoarders Warned

(From the Boston Post.)
Administrator Endicott's warning to food hoarders of Massachusetts may well be taken seriously, to heart by all those of the well-to-do and even rich portion of the population. Mr. Endicott is within his prerogatives when he declares that if the offenders continue the offenders will be publicly named, prosecuted and be made liable to a fine of $5000 or two years' imprisonment.

Sugar and flour are the commodities especially mentioned as being held in too large quantities by some private persons; the facts must be well attested, or Mr. Endicott would scarcely have issued his proclamation on the subject. Under the regulations no family should have on hand more than 30 days' supply of flour or more than 60 days' supply of sugar. Those who violate this provision because they have the money and do not care what "the other fellow" has to stand are likely to find themselves in serious trouble.

Back the Boys

(From the Boston Traveler.)
One hundred thousand American troops are being hurried to the battle front, prepared to do their duty for the flag of their country and the freedom of the world. They are going into battle with enthusiasm and confidence, and they have been fully trained for the ordeal confronting them.
At last it is to be brought home to these Americans who have taken the war lightly that the nation is actually fighting, and that, when 300,000 men will shortly be engaged, fifty times that number will be called for if decisive victory comes to the allied cause.

It now becomes the plain duty of every American man, woman and child to stop wondering, stop pattering, stop playing at preparations, and do all that it is humanly possible to give to our boys at the front, just as strong and trimly as support as our boys will give to their comrades of France, England and Belgium.

We all know what that will be, because we all know what American patriotism and courage have achieved and meant in the history of our own country.

Why So Fiery?

(From the Boston Post.)
It is not difficult to detect the iron fist of Germany directing the writing of the Dutch government's rather bitter protest against the commandeering of Dutch steamers in American ports. On its own account, it never could have so completely repudiated its own arrangement and agreement of a few months ago, a plan that was clearly vetoed by Germany under little short of the threat of war.

But this fiery denunciation of the American government and the American President has no basis in international law, previous procedure and the rules of The Hague convention formulated in Holland itself. As a matter of fact, the United States would have been thoroughly justified in taking over the vessels permanently, after paying a fair price for them. She does not even go to this extent, but will return the steamers to Holland after the war in as good condition as now and pay for any that shall be sunk by the Germans.

If the Kaiser did not write the Dutch protest, he knew perfectly well what it was going to be. If the action of the United States pinches him, so much the more justified is it.

Feeding Ourselves

(From the Boston Herald.)
The New Hampshire emergency food production committee, in starting its campaign for 1918, lays down the basis for proposition that every farm in the state ought to aim this year to be far nearer self-sustaining than it has been in recent years. That same principle applies to the rest of New England. Except in orchard and dairy products, potatoes and sweet corn, New England farmers can supply relatively little food for the rest of the country, but they can and should come nearer to feeding their own families and their own communities than they have been doing.

Their grandfathers did it very successfully and prospered in the doing. Times have changed, to be sure, since the days of the grandfathers, but they are now changing again, and this latest transition should lead to something of a revision of the New England agricultural program. It is not simply that the machinery of transportation from the West and South is working badly for New England, but that the existing system has been wasteful.

The New Hampshire committee also pleads for more systematic marketing. It tells of eggs shipped from southern New Hampshire to Boston and then shipped back to Dover, Concord and Manchester. The case is typical, though the thing is not always so simple as that. To work out a marketing system that will do away with wasted motion of that sort will not be so easy for the New Hampshire committee as to stir more interest in the raising of more grain, beans, garden truck and hogs, sheep and cattle.

Congressional Slackers

(From the Boston Globe.)
How Congressional bickering hinders our war program appears in a single sequence of cause and effect. The flow of our wheat to the Allies has seriously slackened. In the week of March 15 to March 22, we should have sent 210,000 tons. We did send 199,745 tons. The reason officially given for this is that the farmers are holding millions of bushels in storage. This they do because, although the price of 1917 wheat has been fixed at $2.20 a bushel, Congress, mindful of approaching November elections, has been debating a measure to advance the price, and a bill to that effect has already passed the Senate. The House and Senate are now haggling over a wheat price of $2.50 a bushel.

This is only a symptom. The complaint lies deeper. Congress has been criticizing the Administration in the spirit of the gypsy who tied his horse and then whipped the beast because he did not go.

Trades and investigations of every department except itself, which has seemed most in need of investigation, have taken precedence over Congressional business. Of 61 measures recommended by the War Department for getting on with the war, only 14 have been passed. The Overman bill, which would empower the President to gear the governmental machinery for faster work, is in the Senate as "undispatched business." To inveigh against the Administration for delaying the war, and then to delay the Administration is not perfect consistency.

No one objects to Congress criticizing the conduct of the war. Rightly exercised that is a useful function. But it is not rightly exercised in the Parliaments of France and England and the opposition party knows that it must be prepared, in the event of its criticisms overthrowing a Ministry, to assume the responsibility of its words. Under our political system, however, with an Administration in office for years, the opposition does not need a positive program of attack, and so degenerates into mere grumbling and obstruction.

Our Congressional objectors have been strong on fault-finding and weak on new ideas. What the country wants of them is less maneuvering for votes in the November elections, more speed with war measures, and, if they can produce such an article, constructive ideas for the prosecution of the war.

The School in War Time

(From the Manchester Union.)

Now we come to a time when boys and girls and young men and young women in school are laying plans for the summer's occupation. It goes with out saying that some form of war work enters into the plans in a great majority of cases—probably in all. This is as it should be. The only danger is that the boys and girls, influenced superfluently by the abnormal conditions which must exist until the war is won, may carry the plans in many instances beyond the summer months, to the detriment of the schools and to the lasting disadvantage of the young planners, themselves. It is a very real danger—that many boys and girls will make the mistake of planning to continue at home, instead of returning to their studies, when school opens in the autumn. A greater error, from the standpoint of genuine service to our country, could hardly be committed. In the light of present conditions, emergencies requiring such a sacrifice are barely conceivable, but they have not appeared yet, nor is there any prospect of their arising. Schools and colleges are adjusting their terms and semesters so as to release the ambitious young patriots for war work during the season of year when war work is most needed, and when war work is most needed, that is sufficient. By following the school or college schedule, the individual student will make the nearest possible approach to the maximum of useful service to the country.

This is the sentiment of the federal government, expressed and reiterated by our department after another, and emphatically endorsed by President Wilson. More educational training, rather than less, is the great need of a time like this. In the schools are developed most intelligently those lines of training which are best calculated to promote national efficiency. The bureau of education of the department of the interior took occasion, a short time ago, to say specifically: "There appears to be nothing in the present or prospective war emergency which should serve as an excuse for interference with the progressive development of the school system. The war should in no way be used as an excuse for giving the children of the country any less education, in quantity or quality, than they otherwise would have had." As to the government's need of high school students, Secretaries Baker and Daniels point out that "the army and navy do not want, and can not use, boys under 18 years of age, nor boys nor men of any age who are not strong and well-developed physically. So far as the army and navy are concerned, there is nothing more important than the schools can do than to keep going at full capacity, and at the same time to emphasize, in every possible way their work in physical education. High school boys will render the best service of which they are capable by remaining in school until completion of the high school course."

WITH THE FLAG.

"THEN CONQUER WE MUST WHEN OUR CAUSE IT IS JUST."

The HERALD cordially invites recipients of mail from soldiers in any and all branches of the service to send the letters to this office for publication. All matter of a personal nature will be eliminated in the publication; also the original letter will be returned to the owner directly after its publication without in any way being marred.

So far as boys and girls of tender years are concerned, the prudent officers acting under the school laws, probably can be depended upon to ensure, as a general rule, their attendance at school; though a word of warning may not be amiss to parents or guardians who might be tempted to make the war a fulcrum for the lever of argument by which they would justify removal of children from school to wage earning activities. The future, as well as the present, is to be considered, and efficiency in the future demands educational training now. As for young men and young women in the high schools and colleges, they are well aware that the government has repeatedly urged them to remain at their studies until they are officially called out, and to acquire all the useful training they are capable of acquiring. As highly-trained men and women, they will be of far greater service to the country and to themselves than as half-educated workers at wages which must inevitably shrink and shrivel as soon as the war is over.

MUST HAVE MEN FOR MERCHANT SHIPS

Chance for Immediate Service to Go Across on U. S. Transports.

Immediate and drastic action to man the new merchant ships now coming from the ways and the Dutch ships taken over by the Government has been imposed by the great German drive, and steps to that end were taken at an important conference of shipping board officials and representatives of mariners' organizations held in Boston Tuesday.

"We are going to send over to France in the next three weeks every man from the camps that we can find ships for," said Andrew Furness, president of the Seamen's Union. "This means ships and more ships to take supplies. Officers and men must be found for those ships. There is no time for dilly-dally—they must be found now."

The conference voted to push the Nation-wide recruiting campaign now being conducted by the Shipping Board for officers and men, and plans were discussed for impressing on local exemption boards the need of granting immediate exemption to all men known to be mariners, as provided by recent regulations, in order that they can at once be sent aboard ships.

"Service on a merchant ship is now as important as in the trenches," said Henry Howard, director of recruiting, and takes the place of military service, from which merchant marine sailors are specially exempted.

"The Shipping Board wants to hear from every licensed deck officer and engineer in the country. Experience, men without licenses will be given intensive training in our 40 free navigation or engineering schools to qualify them as officers. Any man who can serve as an officer and does not, now come forward is deserting his country in its time of need."

"Men without seagoing experience, between 21 and 30, will be accepted for the new merchant crews, and not only will be exempted from draft but will be given proper preliminary training on the shipping board's training ships."

GERMAN LOSSES 300,000

Washington, April 2.—A French official estimate of the German losses in the great battle on the western front puts their total casualties at between 275,000 and 300,000 men. The Germans are sending most of their wounded to Belgium, it is declared, to conceal from the German people their heavy sacrifices. It has been possible to identify the despatch says, nearly 100 German divisions more than ten of which were twice engaged. Some of the divisions, it is declared, had to be reformed at the end of the first day after losing more than half their men. The despatch follows:

"After an eleven days' offensive, during which the Germans have recklessly pushed forward their attacking waves, one may gather a fairly accurate estimate of their losses. In the first place it has been possible to identify nearly 100 of their divisions since the beginning of the offensive, more than ten of which were twice engaged. Some divisions had to be reformed at the end of the first day, having lost more than half of their men; such was the case of the 45th and 88th. The latter has been nearly entirely wiped out. Among those that have suffered the most are the 5th, 12th, 28th and 107th divisions, as well as the 2nd (Prussian Guard), the 16th, the 21st and 26th divisions of reserves."

"In the second place an enormous number of corpses were found on the battle ground, and the prisoners on being questioned acknowledged the extent of the losses of their respective units. To conceal from the German people the heavy sacrifices that their offensive methods required, the Germans are sending most of their wounded to Belgium. It is not an exaggeration to estimate the total of their losses at between 275,000 and 300,000 men."

Fish and Game Commissioner George A. McIntire in a communication issued to dog owners, calls attention to the fact that last winter over twenty deer were killed by dogs in southern New Hampshire. He states that he intends to prosecute the owners of off-leash hunting dogs and calls the attention of the town officials to the state law which requires that every dog should wear a collar bearing the owner's name and the license number of the animal.

"The commissioner complains that all self-hunting dog cases brought before the courts last year by the department were dismissed by giving the accused a suspended sentence and also states that unless the law can be better enforced it will mean a great reduction in the number of sheep being raised here."

In closing the communication the commissioner says: "Dogs that are kept under reasonable restraint are valuable to their owners and the community at large as well as being a source of great pleasure, but unrestrained dogs are a menace to the community and must go."

NOT TO BLAME FOR MAN'S DEATH

Decision on Accident at South Berwick Causing Death of Joseph Caouette.

The public utilities commission of Maine on Tuesday rendered a decision in the matter of the accident on the premises of the Boston and Maine railroad at South Berwick March 22 last resulting in the death of Joseph Caouette of South Berwick, killed by a Portland train on the Conway branch.

The decision is the following: "Joseph Caouette, aged about 50 years, of South Berwick, was struck and killed by Boston and Maine passenger train No. 606, enroute to Portland about 7 p. m., March 22, 1915, while upon the track of the Boston & Maine railroad company, near a private crossing known as McIntire's, about 2000 feet north of the South Berwick station.

"No one is known to have seen any part of the accident. Blood, flesh and torn clothing were found on parts of the train after it reached Portsmouth, this being the first knowledge that any members of the train crew had of the accident. A person walking along the track the same evening found the body.

"Blood and other evidences indicated that Mr. Caouette was hit near McIntire's Crossing and dragged south one thousand feet or thereabouts.

"The whistling post of the South Berwick station is about 11000 feet north of the station and some 300 of 400 feet south of where the man was struck. The train crew testify that the whistle was sounded at the post and the bell rung from that point to the station, but this was after the accident happened.

"The night was very foggy, and the engine crew was not able to see more than 50 feet ahead. There is an upgrade and a reverse curve where the first blood was found. The train was going about 20 miles an hour at that point.

"The indications are that the man was walking from Salmon Falls to his home at South Berwick. There is no evidence of fault on the part of the railroad company or of its train crew."

GERMAN ALIEN FEIGNED LOCKJAW

But Quickly Opens Jaws as Doctors at Dover Prepare to Operate.

George von Heimberg of Somersworth, an ex-officer of the German army who has been confined to the Dover jail since March 15 as an alien enemy who failed to register, is believed by the federal authorities to have resorted to a ruse to effect his release by feigning an attack of lockjaw. His jaws unlocked with electricity Tuesday when County Physician Chapman had him taken to the Hayes hospital and after an examination of his heart remarked aloud that he was all right to have either administered.

Heimberg immediately said through his clenched teeth, "Before you give me ether try once more to unlock my jaws." Dr. Chapman then took hold of Heimberg's jaws and they opened with out effort. The prisoner was taken back to jail without effort.

Heimberg began complaining to Sheriff Young of his jaws being locked about a week ago. To all appearances his jaws were firmly set and he was fed with liquid food only. Dr. Lapointe visited him at the jail and was unable to unlock the rebellious jaws.

United States District Attorney Fred H. Brown at Somersworth took the matter up with the Washington authorities, with the result that an order was received to have Heimberg removed to a hospital for an operation. That Heimberg's jaws released their tension when he learned he would be chloroformed for an operation was just what was anticipated would happen.

NEW ENGLANDERS EXPECTED TO BE THROWN INTO FIGHT

Washington, April 2.—Military officials are pretty well satisfied that the first American divisions to be thrown into the fight will include the Regulars, the New England and Rainbow divisions, and the marines. They say it will be only logical to use the best trained men. It is believed here that the untrained men will replace the trained men in the sectors the Americans have been holding. Positive information as to the divisions which will be thrown against the enemy is expected almost hourly, but there is considerable doubt whether it will be made public.

CARPENTER CASE TAKES NEW TURN

Concord, N. H., March 3.—A surprising turn was taken yesterday in the litigation between Mrs. Marguerite Paul Carpenter and her husband, Major Ralph G. Carpenter, when in support of a petition for a modification in the recent decree as to the custody of their son and for an allowance of $5000 "for the present," startling charges of misconduct on the part of her husband are made by Mrs. Carpenter. Although the legal proceedings involving the Carpenters since 1915 have furnished many sensations, nothing has caused greater surprise among those familiar with the case than the allegations placed in the court records today.

Major Carpenter has been a frequent visitor in Concord of late, coming to that city to see his ten-year-old son, Ralph, Jr., who by a court order is living with John F. Kent, a retired school master. It was understood by those who have been following the litigation more or less closely, that depositions were being made here within the past few weeks in preparation for the conspiracy action against George A. Carpenter, father of Major Carpenter, brought some months ago by Mrs. Carpenter but no one apparently expected disclosures of the character unfolded this afternoon.

The petition on behalf of Mrs. Carpenter was filed by General Frank S. Streeter, who has been her counsel since the major instituted proceedings for a divorce after forcibly taking possession of his son at a fashionable Magnolia hotel in the new petition. Mrs. Carpenter alleges that the charges presented against her at that time were perjured and that her innocence was established in the trial before Judge Kirt.

Detective evidence was a prominent feature of the first trial and it appears that material obtained by detectives will form an important part of the next court chapter. Mrs. Carpenter states that with her consent, her Massachusetts counsel, Walter I. Badger, last March became counsel for George M. Orr of Worcester, when the latter was instituting proceedings for divorce from Isabel Page Orr. She says in her petition:

"Mr. Orr understood that whatever evidence Mr. Badger obtained, that was of joint benefit to himself against Ralph Carpenter on the one hand and to plaintiff against her husband on the other would be used for the joint benefit of both himself and the plaintiff."

While acting as counsel jointly for Mr. Orr and Mrs. Carpenter, the petition continues, Mr. Badger acquired a large amount of material evidence tending to show improper relations of Major Carpenter with Mrs. Orr since the summer and fall of 1915, at the very time, Major Carpenter, according to the petition, was falsely charging his wife with improper conduct. Mr. Badger, also, it continues, secured evidence of such improper relations by the Major and Mrs. Orr in September and October 1915. Evidence of a large number of telephone conversations between the two, indicating that the relationship was continued also was secured.

On July 22, 1916, at Wolfboro, N. H. according to the petition, Mrs. Orr gave birth to a child. A large number of daily reports of detectives employed by Mrs. Orr's husband also was secured. Also in evidence, according to the petition, is a copy of a letter received by Mr. Badger from Mr. Orr alleged to have been written by Major Carpenter to Mrs. Orr, and which

It is said, was copied by a maid of Mrs. Orr's. In this letter Mrs. Orr is referred to as "my dear" or "dearling wife," and the child born in Wolfboro, N. H., is mentioned as "our own dear child."

Mrs. Carpenter further relates that Mrs. Orr was given an uncontested divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment after an understanding had been reached between George A. Carpenter and Mr. Badger that $5000 would be paid, the charge against Major Carpenter being dropped and it being provided that Mr. Orr should have the custody of his own two children by Mrs. Orr and that Mrs. Orr should have the custody of the child born July 22, 1916.

A detailed report of expenditures by the Carpenters in connection with the family litigation is sought, and it is alleged that a "political agent" has been paid one-third of a salary of $1000 and that his services had to do with the "Carpenter case."

In conclusion Mrs. Carpenter asks for an allowance of $5000 "for the present." She prays also for a modification of the order relative to the custody of her son, and that the court may have a personal conference with the boy. From copies of letters passing between Attorney Badger and Henry P. Hurlbut, counsel for George A. Carpenter, in August, 1917, which are made part of Mrs. Carpenter's amended petition, it appears that George A. Carpenter refused to make a settlement with Mrs. Carpenter on a basis of $100,000.

Wrestling Match

"CYCLONE" BURNS

VS.

TOM DRAAK

For Light Weight Championship of the World.

GOOD PRE LIMINARIES.

At Freeman's Hall,

Wednesday Evening, April 3rd.

CYCLONE BURNS AND TOM DRAAK TONIGHT

The big wrestling match of the year comes tonight when Cyclone Burns of Boston and Tom Draak of New York will fight it out at Freeman's hall in a finished match.

Both are the best men in the country at their weight, the so-called light heavy weight class, and both are in great shape, so that a hard and brilliant match may be looked for.

Burns has been here since last week training with Bill Dryden at his farm in Greenland and he will go on the mat in first class condition. Burns is a wonderful man and when he takes the time to do special training it is always a sure sign that he expects a battle out of the ordinary.

Tom Draak who lost to Burns here some weeks ago, by injury being thrown from the ring, has all the confidence in the world in himself. He has enough so that he wanted to wrestle the winner take all of the large purse, but this was changed so that the division is 75 to the winner and 25 to the loser. Draak and Burns are very similar in their style depending upon their skill rather than weight and always brilliant performers.

GERMANS HAVE 3 TANK TYPES

Ottawa, April 2.—A despatch from French headquarters, sent last night by a Reuter correspondent says:

"Although the soldiers believe enemy tanks did not participate in the first German shock, it is certain that tanks actually took part in the operations and the failure to see them by the soldiers was because, instead of accompanying the infantry as the tanks advanced later with specialist troops to destroy islands of resistance holding out after the German forces submerged the British main defenses."

"It is known that the enemy has tanks of three classes. The first class consists of repaired captured tanks from the Cambrai battle, and tanks manufactured especially to the model of the British machine. The second type is a German model, smaller than the British, but swifter, better armed, and more heavily armored. The third type is a land cruiser, or large model tank.

"The swift tanks are said to be twenty-six feet long, ten feet wide, and eleven feet high; weight, ten metric tons. The land cruisers are forty-five feet long, thirteen feet wide and thirteen feet high. The speed of the German tanks varies between four and a half and nine and a half miles per hour. The armament is believed to consist of a shortened 77-millimeter machine-gun, and a flame-thrower. The latter is an innovation, which must add considerable efficiency to the tank in clearing trenches, owing to the capacity of the tanks to carry big reserves of combustible liquid.

"It is understood that the Germans have introduced a number of improvements, including heavier protection against shells and a device enabling the crew to close the tank hermetically when traversing regions of gas. German tanks are commanded by majors. The officers are volunteers, and the men motor specialists, gunners, and machine-gunners.

"In attacks the tanks are designed to advance behind the second or third wave of infantry, while detachments of infantry cover their flanks."

A NEW FORM OF HORSE RACING

The members of the Southern Agricultural Association at a meeting held Tuesday suggested a novel feature in the form of horse racing that will take place Decoration Day at the trotting park.

The nineteen directors of the association are to each enter a horse in the race and the slow horse to be the winner. The race with others will be known as "the slow race." The purse for the race is suggested as $25. The horses entered in the race are to be driven by other drivers than the owner.

SPORT NOTES OF INTEREST

Bobby Walthour, sizes up as one of the most remarkable figures in cycling history, and the mystery of the medical profession. He began his racing career about twenty years ago and since that time there are among the happenings in his life:

Broke right collar bone 26 times.
Broke left collarbone 13 times.
Suffered 82 fractures.
Had 42 stitches taken in both legs.
Has more than 200 body scars as the result of bruises and cuts.

Shows 80 stitches scars on his face, forehead and head as the result of saved up wounds.

Has broken six of his eight fingers and one of his thumbs.

Has been pronounced fatally injured six times.

Has been pronounced dead twice.

"But here I am still alive but mighty peevish," declared Walthour a few days ago.

Tom Draak and Cyclone Burns will go to it tonight at Freeman's hall. These men provided an excellent contest on their last appearance in this city and many of the sports are picking Tom to win. Draak took the first fall in their previous encounter and was injured during the course of the second period.

A. J. Legemire, manager of the Canadian Athletic club at Lewiston, is making plans to bring some of the best wrestlers in the country to Maine. Legemire plans to have a chain of sides and towns in that state so that he may be able to secure the best men in the game. Among those he would sign are John Kilbuck, Eugene Tremblay, light weight champion, Montreal; Jim Paulos, Manchester, N. H.; Farmer Carter, the wizard Detroit lightweight, now at Manchester, N. H.; Mort Henderson, the mischievous maverick; Doctor D. P. Rollet, Wladek Zybalo and Jim Lomas who has been making his home in Lowell. This Lomas is 22 years old and weighs 185 pounds. He is known as one of the big five in wrestling. In three hours and forty-five minutes Stringer Lewis failed to throw Lomas.

After defeating Haverhill High twice and thereby winning the high school basketball honors of Massachusetts, Holyoke High lost in Lawrence V. M. C. A. by a 41 to 2 score. The Y. M. C. A. was far superior to the team from Holyoke.

Two wrestlers were injured in different matches the other night at Atlantic City—Exchange.

Must have been a terrible mistake somewhere.—Manchester Mirror.

Tonight at Manchester, John Kilbuck will wrestle Pink Gardner for the middleweight championship. The contest will be under Police Gazette rules governing contests of this nature. This should be John's turn to win, then they can do it all over again in Boston in about two weeks. There will be a preliminary between Jim Paulos and Pat McCarthy. Pat hails from Boston and it is hard to see where he has much chance with the slippery Greek. George Tuohy of Boston is scheduled to referee.

John Olin, the Worcester heavyweight will meet Earl Caddock at Des Moines, Ia., where Caddock is stationed at camp. For the present all of Caddock's matches will be given in that city because of the difficulty of obtaining foulouts.

Newspaper clippings from New York papers show that when Young Battling Nelson and Soldier Bartfield boxed in that city some months ago, Nelson had all the better of the bout and Bartfield was lucky to last out the allotted number of rounds. Young Nelson is scheduled to meet Bill Carney of New Bedford in this city Friday night.

ON THE DIAMOND

George Foster, the Boston Red Sox pitcher, has quit baseball, so he says, in order to raise hogs on his Oklahoma farm. Probably got his idea from the manner in which some athletes are demanding salaries.

Though the ordinary public may not be trusted to play baseball on Sunday, nor even to witness the game, the Massachusetts legislature evidently concludes it is not so bad morally for army and navy men and the measure permitting Sunday games at camps and navy yards or other places where only army and navy teams play and the receipts go to relief funds, is about to be passed.

Ping Bodie was reconciled to the deal that sent him to the New York Yankees until he read that Philadelphia fans were so well pleased at the exchange by which Mack gets George Burns. Now he is free and says that if it wasn't that he wants to show Mack up he wouldn't want to play. A lot of fans will agree with Bodie and wonder what Quaker City fans have to enthuse about over the deal.

The boy who plunders the lost baseballs at the big park can come in without a war tax the internal revenue office has ruled.

Harry (Moose) McCormick, formerly pitcher for the New York Giants, now a lieutenant with a regiment in France, has written President Taft of the National League asking that the league see to it that his regiment is supplied with baseball equipment.

Benny Dreyfus doesn't believe in selling space in his ball park for advertising signs. He recently turned down a big offer. Forbes Field is devoid of signs.

The Cleveland Indians are still six players shy of their complete quota, absentees being Ragby, Groom, Worthing, Speaker and two recruits, Harry Lunde, infielder from Mobile, and Floyd Farmer, outfielder from Portland.

Jimmy Archer, the former Cub catcher, is said to be working wonders with the Pirates pitchers.

TRACK AND ROAD

There was never a season when a good stallion standing for service in New Hampshire would be more appreciated than at the present time, when farmers and other harness horse owners recognize the fact that a healthy foal in 1919 means as much or more to them than a $100 Liberty Loan bond. Inquiries for the services of a desirable stallion near at hand come from all over the state.

The field of usefulness for the horse has simply been shifted. Today the demand for horses is as good as ever, and no time ever presented a better opportunity to value horses with more certainty of profit. The principal thing, declared the Horse World, is to get a correct adjustment of the shifting in the fields of the horse's usefulness and then brew a type for which there is a known demand, and there are several types to choose from.

It looks as though the fast trotting class of the grand circuit in 1918 will resolve itself into another series of battles between those adversaries of the past two seasons, Mahel Trask, 2:02 1-4, and St. Prisco, 2:01 3-4. It has never before happened that two trotters standing out beyond all others to the extent that the daughter of Peter the Great, 2:07 1-4, and the son of San Francisco, 2:07 3-4, do at the present time.

Maine's four weeks' circuit opens at Bangor August 26, and includes in order, Presque Isle, Waterville and Lewiston. All but Lewiston have $500 early closing events; Bangor and Lewiston each have a $1000 free-for-all pace.

BOXING BREVITIES

When the clasp in the next room remarked that the sailors in the navy were developing faster than the soldiers in the army in the game of fastuffs, because they got plenty of practice boxing compasses, he wondered why nobody laughed. You tell him he haven't the heart.—Buffalo Times.

Gambout Smith, the heavyweight, is getting plenty of matches these evenings, probably because he is so perfect a camouflage fighter.—Exchange

The New England bantamweight title will be tossed into the ring once more when Paul Demers and Paddy Owens meet at the Commodore A. C. Boston, next Friday night. Kid Lohme, the Manchester bantam, hopes to get a chance at the winner.

Jesse Willard and his manager, Col. J. C. Miller, were favorably impressed with Baltimore as a spot to hold the Willard-Fulton match, but all prospects of the mill being held there went a glimmering when the authorities informed the champion they were adverse to the match.

The only thing Jesse Willard stands a chance to lose is a championship crown that never did fit him well anyway, says a Dempsey admirer.

Look Years Younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea, long improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one of two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

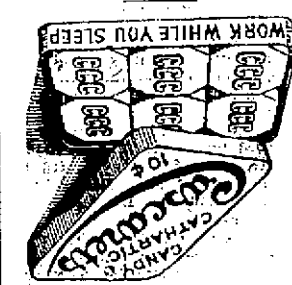

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around so get busy with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

DANIELS OFFERED POWERFUL CANNON

Washington, April 2.—Plans for a superior cannon, a great gun of long range, possibly similar to the one with which the Germans have been bombarding Paris, have been submitted to Secretary Daniels by naval ordnance experts after months of experiment. It is understood, however, that the report includes a statement that the ordnance officers do not believe the military value of such a weapon would compensate for the time and money which must be spent in perfecting and developing it.

American ordnance officers have been interested in the possibilities of a long range gun for the past 10 years. The belief that the "gun was not worth the candle" as one officer expressed it today, prevented rapid progress, but experiments were not dropped and, since the entrance of the United States into the war, interest has been revived in the navy department. Reports were heard in some quarters today that a range of 105 miles was expected of the gun now under consideration. Secretary Daniels would not discuss the matter, but other officials declared that no definite data was at hand on which to make any such estimate.

LOANS TO ALLIES NOW TOTAL $5,160,000

Washington, April 2.—Credits to the Allies in the last year were raised today to $5,160,000,000 by the loan of $200,000,000 to Great Britain. That nation's credits from the United States now are $2,720,000,000.

CHIROPRACTIC

(Ki-ro-prak-tic)

YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THIS DRUGLESS SCIENCE. Your spine is the keynote of your health. Nerves leaving the spine become compressed by the bony segments (vertebrae) the result is disease (see illustration). The Chiropractor removes the nerve pressure at the spine and NATURE restores the health. No drugs, surgery or appliances are used. The Chiropractor uses his hands alone to restore the spinal segments to a normal position. If you are a sufferer you should investigate. Chiropractic obtains results where other methods have failed. Consultations and spinal analysis free at my office.

PRETENDED SUICIDE NOT EFFECTIVE

(By Associated Press)
St. Paul, April 2.—Austin Gillin, chief clerk of the local draft appeals board, has issued a warning that pretended suicide will not be an effective means of evading the selective draft. The hat and little white clothes on the river bank, with the note telling the "dear widow" that the departed "can no longer hear the thought of the suffering that would come to her" if he should be shipped in "those dreadful trenches," will soften no hearts of the members of the district draft boards.
"We are getting a few rumors from different parts of the country that draft dodging by means of a disappearance attended by carefully prepared circumstantial evidence of suicide, is being tried," said Mr. Gillin.

AERO PLANE JOY RIDING

Dallas, Texas, April 2.—Airplane "joy-riding" among the clouds has been stopped at the American and British aviation camps here and at Fort Worth. This is partly due to the fact that the aviators had too many friends who wanted to "take a trip aloft" and partly because an incident which occurred the other day at Fort Worth.
A coyote flyer from the American camp at Love Field here who paid a visit to a member of the Royal Flying Corps at Fort Worth was invited by the Canadian to take a flight with him. The American cadet accepted. When he returned to his own camp, the cadet told his comrades that the flight had been a venturesome one, embodying all the nose dives, dips, loops and turn which the British flyers have made ordinary occurrences. The American had enjoyed the trip thoroughly, he declared and had no thought of fear until after they had alighted safely. Then the new Canadian friend, with a sigh of relief admitted it had been his first solo flight and that most of the spectacular performances of the airplane had been entirely without his approval or design.
Now commanders at all of the aviation schools have emphasized that the camps were established as training grounds and "not as reception rooms" and rules against visitors have become more and more strict until now it is just as easy to break into the vaults of the United States treasury as it is to get into an aviation camp. No one is admitted without a pass and a pass is unobtainable unless the applicant is able to convince the commanding officer that his presence within the lines will be to the advantage of the United States and the army in general and also to the training camp and the particular cadet whom he wishes to visit.
The cadets have sufficient time however to visit with their friends, being at liberty from Saturday noon until late Sunday night each week, and special leaves are obtainable to all except those under discipline for some infraction of rules.
At the ground school at Camp Dick here, which is well within the city limits, the students are permitted to be off each Tuesday and Thursday night until midnight in addition to the Sunday leave, and this winter most of the city's social functions have been held on those nights so the aviators could participate.
Entertainment of the men in uniform is now part of the regular home life of Dallas inhabitants and a boy is unlucky indeed who boasts only one invitation for a Sunday dinner in the home of some new found Texan friend. There is scarcely a home in the city where at least one uniform is not a fixed feature of the Sunday dinner.
I've promised four different girls to meet them at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, one cadet complained to his bunk mate on turning in late Saturday night, "and I have paged the whole camp to get somebody to fill in for me. I can't find a man who isn't promised to at least one family for Sunday dinner."

PROTECTION AS BOMBS DROP

London, April 2.—Very few of the buildings in London which are used as air raid shelters provide any adequate protection against bombs dropped from a great height. "It is quite obvious to engineers," says Eric that floors of concrete, whether reinforced or not, will not withstand the kinetic energy of a bomb falling several thousand feet. For instance if a 10-pound bomb falls only 7,000 feet, the kinetic energy of the missile at the moment of impact is 230,000 foot pounds, exactly 125 tons.
"This bomb, weight and height are, however, small compared with some of the latest missiles and the distance they descend. An 80-pound bomb, falling 15,000 feet would have a final velocity of 976 feet per second and kinetic energy at the moment of impact of 1,300,000 foot pounds, equal to 535 tons. Where is the square foot of concrete flooring that will withstand such tremendous a shock? We doubt whether even three of the finest concrete floors would withstand a direct hit."
Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, headache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

RIOTING IN COPENHAGEN

(By Associated Press)
Copenhagen, April 2.—Syndicalist disturbances, engineered by the extreme wing of the Socialists which took place in Copenhagen recently while not exactly revolutionary in character, were of a more riotous character than any former occasion, and caused the authorities great concern.
In the early afternoon a crowd of so-called unemployed collected in one of the squares, where they were addressed by a young factory-worker. At his order they passed through the town, took possession of some of the long iron rods used by the motormen of the Copenhagen street-cars to adjust the switches, and armed with these, arrived at their destination, the Stock Exchange.
"Break the doors," was the order given.
With wild shouts, "Break the doors!" "Kill the money-grabbers!" "Down with those who steal our life-blood!" a party of 300 excited syndicalists rushed the building, smashed the windows, furniture and chandeliers, and the leather seats with knives, broke the legs off the chairs, and frightened the messenger-and-typewriter-girls out of their wits.
The battle was not without its comic incidents. One of the rioters happened to encounter a prominent broker in a corridor. "Get away, you scoundrel," cried the rioter, but the broker, who is something of an athlete was in no mood to comply with the request. Seizing the young syndicalist by the neck he threw him down on the floor, and then proceeded to give him a sound thrashing, until the rioter cried for mercy. The broker then kicked him down two stairs.
At length the police appeared on the scene and without much difficulty cleared the building. Meanwhile the crowd outside the Stock Exchange had gathered bricks and stones with which they bombarded the building and the police, but the firemen were called out and dispersed the crowd by the use of the fire hose.
"It was chiefly young and quite irresponsible persons who made this row," said the Chief of Police.

WOMAN WHO SHOT HUSBAND ESCAPES

Concord, N. H., April 2.—Mrs. Mary H. Folsom, who killed her husband, Henry H. Folsom, a Boston lawyer, June 30, 1914, while they were riding from Exeter to their summer home in Newfields, has escaped from the hospital for the insane here. She has been confined here since the crime was committed. Folsom was chairman of the Somerville school committee at the time he was shot.

WHY WE SEND OUR WHEAT TO EUROPE

Concord, N. H.—No question is more frequently asked than why we send wheat to Europe and stint our own people. The answer is simple. We send wheat that the Allies may make of it a war bread which contains from 25 to 50 per cent. wheat substitutes. Wheat is necessary for a bakery loaf. Corn meal, buckwheat and other flours will make bread but the loaves will not stand 24 hours handling between the oven and table. These flours can be used only for home baking.

Nobody bakes bread in the home in Europe. The farmers there do not live on their farms but in villages and all depend on the village baker. This wholesale baking of an entire community saves fuel and was the rule in time of peace. Now that coal in France costs from $110 to $135 a ton individual baking is not possible.

MUST HAVE A NEW HEARING

Public Utilities Dismiss Kittery Petition Without Prejudice.

The public service commission of Maine at a meeting held at Augusta on Tuesday, rendered a decision ordering that the petition for the abolition of a grade crossing formed by the intersection of Whipple road and the tracks of the York Harbor and Beach railroad near the passenger station in Kittery be dismissed without prejudice. The decision says in part:

"It developed at the hearing that property of the Roman Catholic bishop of Portland and property designated on a map or plan then filed by the legend 'Jacob Hatch' would be affected by the proposed change. This information had not been conveyed to the commission in the original papers, and no notice had been ordered or served on the owners or occupants, as required by statute.

"We regarded this omission, when it was brought to our attention, as fatal in the present proceedings, and called the attention of the parties to the fact, suggesting several ways in which it might be cured.

"A new hearing will be necessary in any event if a formal order is to be made by this commission. Inasmuch as the parties have not yet elected a method of procedure, and we are of the opinion that the simplest and most direct way will be by presenting a new petition, it is ordered, affirmed and decreed that the petition in this case be and the same hereby is dismissed without prejudice."

FATHERS HUNTING FOR THEIR SONS

Boys Skipped From Amesbury on Sunday Last.

The fathers of Charles McCoy and William Nini, aged 16 and 17 respectively, both of Amesbury, called at the police headquarters today and reported that their sons have been missing since Sunday last. They learned that the boys had been in Portsmouth and were trying to get into the navy.

Inquiry at the Navy Yard satisfied them that the boys did not appear at the naval station for enlistment although they had been seen here at the Y. M. C. A. and other places.

The fathers left for Charlestown to continue the search thinking that the boys may report at the navy yard there for enlistment. They had $25 when they skipped away from home.

Buy Now

Buy your Blue Flame Oil Cook Stoves now and avoid probable price increases, is the advice of Margeson Brothers. Even if the war should close in the near future the price of steel is expected to remain extremely high for several years and the prices on oil stoves may go even higher than those maintaining at the present time.

Before the war the steel mills were by no means working to their capacity, and the factories had their orders in for steel and other materials far in advance of their needs. After the war began, however, the belligerents demanded the entire output of the American Mills, so that the price began to advance rapidly. Several companies could not get the steel they had contracted for until long after it was required.

Some steel parts increased in price several hundred per cent. Today there is hardly a piece that goes into a stove that has not advanced more than 20 per cent. It is rumored that another increase in price will go into effect soon—in fact, some of the companies have already raised their prices an additional 10 per cent. There is no reason to believe that they will be any more able to obtain moderate priced steel in the future than they have been in the recent past.

It must be borne in mind that the steel makers have hundreds of thousands of tons listed on unfilled orders. In addition to the present tremendous demands made by the warring nations upon the steel output of the United States, it must be remembered that the ship building industry has shown a remarkable revival and that a vast number of buildings, bridges, and many other structures will have to be replaced after the war.

We have in stock at the present time a large stock of New Perfect Blue Flame Stoves and Ovens but at the rate they are being sold the supply will not last long and the probability of getting more at the present prices is uncertain.

The above also applies to refrigerators. We are showing both the all-steel refrigerator and the hard wood refrigerator with white enamel and porcelain linings.

Would it not be advisable to telephone your order?
